

Committee on Institutional Reforms accepting complaints from people, groups

By RAZAK AHMAD

PETALING JAYA: Individuals and groups who wish to speak up about institutions that have failed to function according to the law can submit written representations to the Committee on Institutional Reforms.

In a statement, the Committee said it will also accept representations from those who wish to alert it about institutions that have structural defects, have poor governance, ineffective decision-making processes or inadequate mechanisms for redress.

You're one step closer towards activating your full membership.

Start your 1 month FREE trial for unlimited access to articles and features.